EFFECTIVE SEPTEMBER 25—EASTERN STANDARD TIME

PLENTY and ON TIME!

That's How MAINE Met the Test

In the face of urgent wartime demand — all important food production on the great farms of Maine -- vital timber and manufactured products for the war effort have come through in plenty-- and on time.

In response to continued urgent demand, Maine farmers, timberland operators, and manufacturers can be counted on to keep on a pace with the demands of our nation. Whether Fighting Men — Fighting Food or Fighting Materials needed, Maine will produce her share for victory.

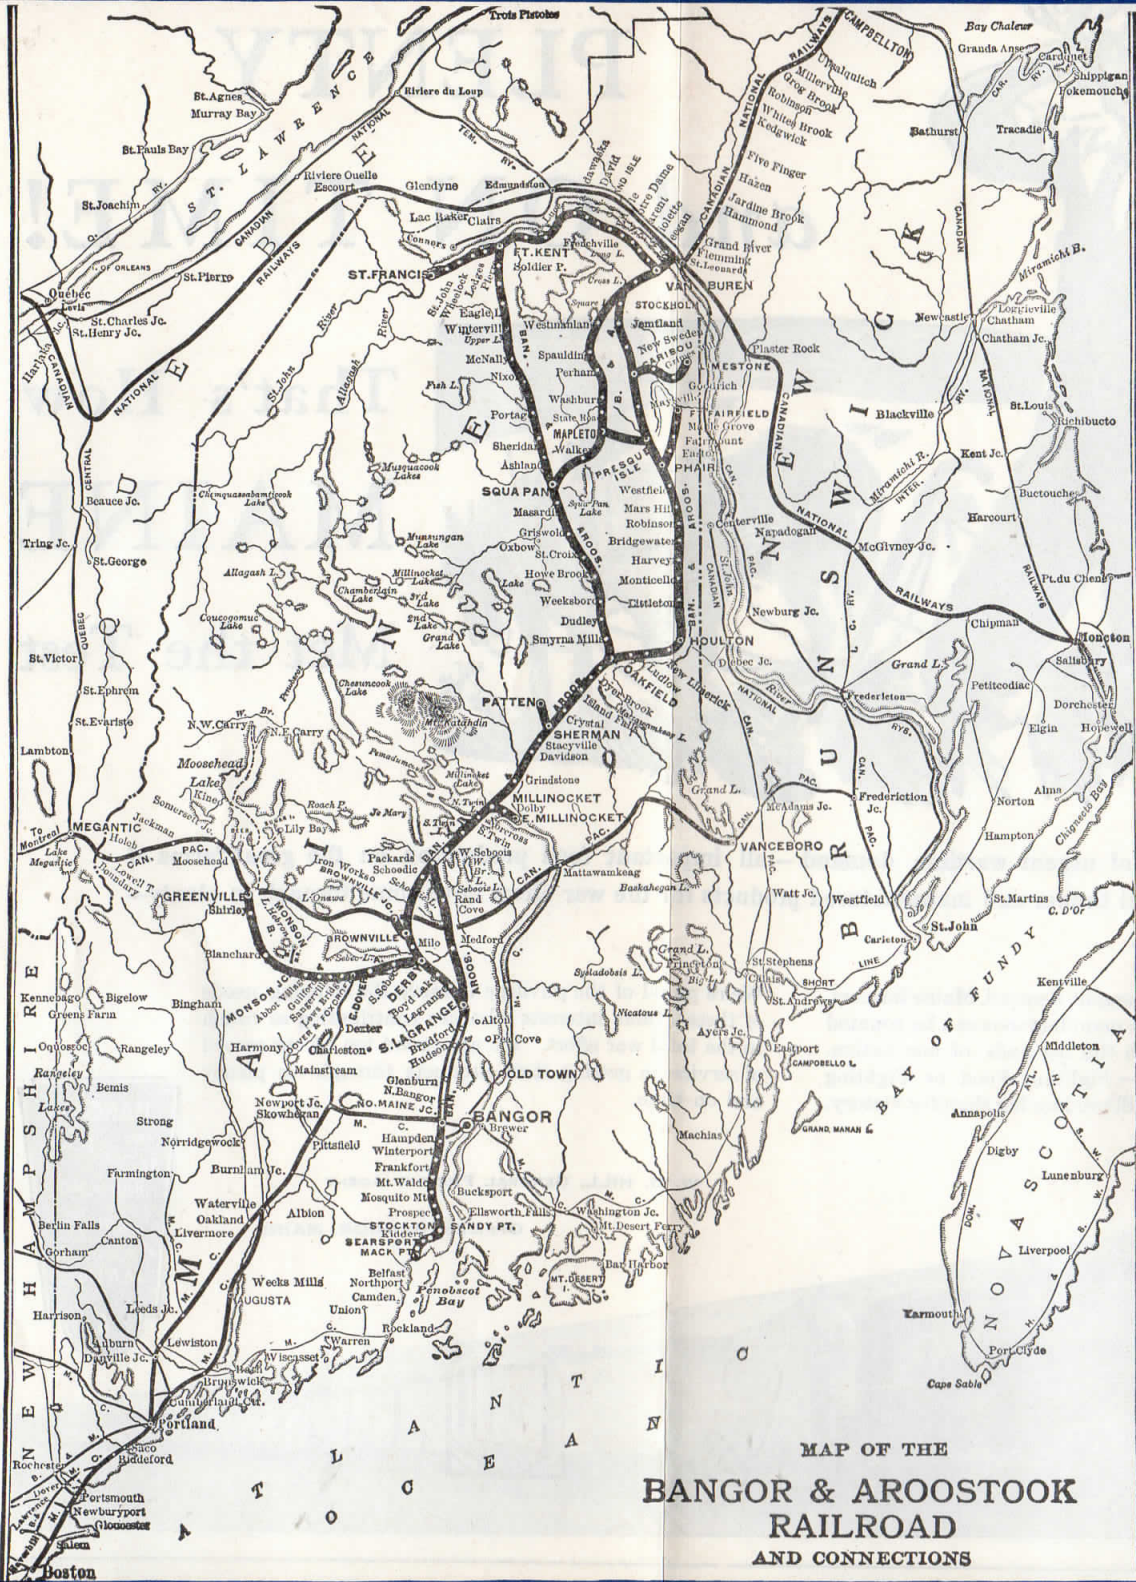

We're proud of the privilege to serve the shipping needs of these Maine interests who are contributing so much to the total war effort. We are proud too of our record of service in getting their products through - in plenty and on time.

When America's first express service started, the locomotives burned wood and the railway's length was 45 miles. In 1944, from border to border and coast to coast, Railway Express delivers America's shipments, at passenger train speed, via 230,000 miles of track. You can help us do our war job and serve you, too, by packing all shipments securely — addressing them clearly — sending them early.
